Valentina Alemanno is an analytical chemist and researcher with expertise in the characterisation of advanced and sustainable materials. Her experience includes XRF, XRD, Raman spectroscopy, SEM-EDX, micro-CT and other analytical techniques applied to research and industrial innovation projects. She currently works at RINA Consulting - Centro Sviluppo Materiali on European R&D projects focused on circular economy, resource efficiency, biomaterials and low-carbon industrial processes.