Sergio BRUTTI - CV BSc and PhD in Chemical Sciences (2004) from the University of Rome La Sapienza, he has subsequently carried out research activities at the University of Oxford (UK), the University of St Andrews (UK) and the University of Basilicata. Associate Professor in Physical Chemistry at the University of Rome La Sapienza (2020), he is the author of more than 145 publications in international journals collecting more than 3300 citations: his research activity is the study of materials and processes for electrochemical energy storage.