

Luciano De Sio is Associate Professor at the Sapienza University of Rome - Italy. He is the group leader of a young and highly motivated research group working in biotechnology, liquid crystals, nanotechnology, optics, and bio-photonics. Luciano possesses extensive experience in photo-thermal therapy and reusable biosensors. He has co-authored 196 ISI-JCR publications in physics and biotechnology, several book chapters, 18 issued international patents, and delivered more than 80 scientific communications at conference