

Short Bio

Leandro Lorenzelli is Head of the Microsystems Technology Unit of the Fondazione Bruno Kessler-Sensors and Devices Center, Trento, Italy (FBK). He is leading a research group on micro-technologies for MEMS, physical, bio-chemical sensors, lab on a chip technology and biosystems. He has participated to several national and international projects in the field of microsystems as a Coordinator and Principal Investigator and he has authored/edited of more than 200 articles in peer-review specialized publications and 6 patents.