

Emanuela Traficante – CV

Emanuela Traficante works in the Corporate Relations Office at the Politecnico di Torino, where she manages Framework Agreements between the University and private companies. She holds a degree in Business Economics and brings over 10 years of experience in the private sector. She is highly skilled in supporting publicly funded research projects and management control. Furthermore, she helps to enhancing the value of university research by facilitating its practical application within the business applications.